To sign into a account you have to put your email just encase you forget your password the company can send you it to you via your email also it can be used as your user name

You click this hyperlink to make a new account if you don't have one if you try to make a new account with the same email they will say that you have already made one and if you have forgotten your password we will send it via your email round about that

This is just for help because someone might have hacked your account and changed your password so you might be asked a secret question.

Passwords to protect your information say if this was an eBay account and they had your user name and your password they could see all your credit card numbers and pins also buy stuff with it posing as you.

Homestead | Build, Make & Create Your Own Website – FREE! Website Hosting & Website Building Software [9] : this hyperlink will tell your how to design your own web page basically your just copy codes from other websites if you're making a webpage via a website e.g. MySpace :
If you take something off the internet and cast it as your own that is illegal and if it's something like coursework and they find out you can get fail for all your G.C.S.E's mad in
On January 17, 2001 when was the project set up.

The license Wikipedia [3] uses grants free access to our content in the same sense that free software [10] is licensed freely. This principle is known as copy left [11]. Wikipedia content can be copied, modified, and redistributed so long as the new version grants the same freedoms to others and acknowledges the authors of the Wikipedia article used (a direct link back to the article is generally thought to satisfy the attribution requirement). Wikipedia articles therefore will remain free under the GFDL and can be used by anybody subject to certain restrictions, most of which aim to ensure that freedom. Licences needed to distribute software identified

They can improve Wikipedia by having just a English based one unlike Google there's a search u.k one and search the world wide web one weaknesses identified or compared to its competitors. How could it be improved stated?

But one the other hand Wikipedia has a lot more information plus its all facts there no fake websites that could give your computer a virus How your website it better than the competition (advantages) Wikipedia is very good because it's got different and interesting information Opinion of the project given.

You get involved with Wikipedia by adding to all the information from your experience to help other people or answer questions they have How they get involved in the project.
